Group members will share deliverables in google docs and gitlab and send to Ryan Scott, who will look over them for final review. Dwayne Leonard will print final work hard copies and Ryan Scott will submit online work to Scholar and Gitlab. Deliverables should be submitted one hour before the scheduled meeting time, so group members can review them before the meeting time. Bring laptops, class notes, and any other necessary items for scheduled meeting task. The meeting schedule will be updated weekly to show our weekly meeting schedule. Any poor work submitted by team member will be redone by that team member with the help of the rest of the team. If team member is behind in their work, ask other team member(s) to assist in finishing task if needed. If team is struggling and needs help on certain problems during project, email/message Professor Kreider on slack.
